1. Introduction

On December 16, 2021, the Impact Assessment Agency of Canada (the Agency) decided that an impact assessment is required for the Upper Beaver Gold Project (the Project), pursuant to Subsection 16(1) of Canada's Impact Assessment Act (the IAA).

The Indigenous Engagement and Partnership Plan (IEPP) outlines opportunities and methods for meaningful engagement and consultation with potentially affected Indigenous communities throughout the impact assessment process for the Project. The IEPP is intended to be flexible and does not preclude the Agency from making changes to the approaches described in the IEPP in order to accommodate changes that may occur during the assessment process.

Throughout this IEPP, the terms "Indigenous community" or "Indigenous communities" refer to Indigenous peoples connected by Nation, Band, geographical location, community roles and other shared values and identities. Within the context of the impact assessment process, the Agency encourages the active participation of a community's diversity such as the Chief and Council, community leaders, as well as other members of the community, such as women, Elders, youth and knowledge holders.

Throughout this IEPP, "engagement" refers to the spectrum of engagement defined in the Policy Context for Indigenous Participation in Impact Assessment (Policy Context: Indigenous Participation in Impact Assessment - Canada.ca) and "consultation" refers to the Government of Canada's duty to consult, and, where appropriate, accommodate, on the potential adverse impacts of the Project on the exercise of Aboriginal and/or Treaty rights of the Indigenous peoples of Canada.

To complement this IEPP, interested Indigenous communities may develop community-specific consultation plans, in collaboration with the Agency, to describe the community's specific objectives for consultation, or any unique features of the impact assessment and consultation process pertaining to that community.

The Agency developed a separate Public Participation Plan to describe how the Agency plans to engage with the public during the impact assessment process.

Finally, the Agency recognizes that, at the time of writing this document, the COVID-19 pandemic continues to have an impact on Indigenous communities and across Canada. The Agency is committed to being as flexible as possible in engaging with Indigenous peoples to accommodate the limitations of the ongoing pandemic.

2. Description of the proposed Project

Agnico Eagle Mines Limited (the proponent) is proposing the construction, operation, decommissioning and abandonment of an underground and open-pit gold and copper mine located 20 kilometres northeast of Kirkland Lake, in Ontario. As proposed, the Upper Beaver Gold Project includes an on-site metal mill and structures for diverting water. The maximum ore production capacity of the mine is 15,000 tonnes per day, and the maximum ore input capacity of the metal mill is approximately 10,000 tonnes per day, with a mine life of about 16 years. The Project would require the diversion of over 90 million cubic metres of water per year from Beaverhouse Lake downstream to the Misema River.

3. Objectives of Indigenous engagement and partnership

Impact Assessment Agency of Canada's objectives:

- Conduct meaningful Crown consultation on the potential positive and adverse effects (direct, indirect, cumulative, residual and incidental) of the Project and adverse impacts of the Project on the exercise of Aboriginal and/or Treaty rights of the Indigenous peoples of Canada recognized and affirmed in section 35 of the Constitution Act, 1982 (Aboriginal or Treaty rights);
- Meaningfully engage with Indigenous communities regarding Indigenous knowledge they may wish to apply when considering potential effects and impacts of the Project and impacts on the exercise of Aboriginal or Treaty rights by referring to the Indigenous Knowledge Framework and guidance documents;
- Meaningfully engage with Indigenous communities throughout the impact assessment process with opportunities to provide comments on key documents and the engagement process;
- Ensure engagement is consistent with the Government of Canada's commitment to implement the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (the Declaration) as a comprehensive international human rights instrument and Canada's roadmap for reconciliation. The Declaration also emphasizes the need to work together in partnership and respect, as articulated through the principle of free, prior and informed consent. This principle reflects working together in good faith on decisions that impact Indigenous peoples, with the intention to achieve consensus;
- Encourage Indigenous communities to share Indigenous knowledge and expertise early in the impact assessment process to facilitate its integration into key documents such as the proponent's Impact Statement;
- Include Indigenous knowledge, if provided, in the assessment of potential effects and impacts of the Project and impacts on the exercise of Aboriginal or Treaty rights, and explain how Indigenous knowledge was considered or used in the assessment;
- Provide meaningful opportunities for collaboration with Indigenous communities' assessment of the impacts of the Project on the exercise of Aboriginal or Treaty rights. This may include, where appropriate, collaboration with Indigenous communities on community developed methodology or processes to assess the impact of the Project on Aboriginal or Treaty rights; and

- Conduct meaningful consultation with Indigenous communities on measures to avoid, mitigate or minimize potential adverse impacts of the Project on Aboriginal or Treaty rights.

Objectives identified by Indigenous communities during the Planning Phase:

During the Planning Phase, some Indigenous communities identified values and objectives for Indigenous consultation for the Project. The Agency summarizes these as:

- Consultation approach needs to be clear, timely and transparent, and adhered to;
- Consultation needs to include efforts that actively uphold traditional land-use practices, values, and areas of interest throughout the federal assessment process;
- Meaningful consultation needs to occur during the development of scoping elements of the impact assessment (valued ecosystem components, indicators, objectives, spatial and temporal study area boundaries) and all subsequent phases of the impact assessment; and
- Meaningful consultation needs to include identification, assessment and determination of appropriate mitigation and monitoring measures for any adverse effects and enhancements for positive impacts of the Project, including those on health and socio-economic conditions.

4. Indigenous communities

The Agency identified the following lists of communities that may be potentially impacted by the Project. This includes communities where the Project may adversely impact the exercise of Aboriginal or Treaty rights of Indigenous peoples of Canada as recognized and affirmed in section 35 of the Constitution Act, 1982 and also Indigenous peoples with asserted rights where an assessment of effects under section 22 of the IAA may be required. This list is based on information available in the Government of Canada's Aboriginal and Treaty Rights Information System, as well as information shared by Indigenous communities during initial meetings and throughout the Planning Phase.

Although the impact assessment process is not a rights-determination process, the Crown acknowledges that the content and extent of the duty to consult and, where appropriate, accommodate varies according to the nature of the rights (established or potential) and the severity of the Project's potential impact on these rights. The Agency's assessment of the extent of the duty to consult and, where appropriate, accommodate is at its preliminary phase. The Agency wishes to complete this exercise in collaboration with Indigenous communities during the Impact Statement Phase.

The Government of Canada is committed to renewing its relationship with Indigenous peoples, which is based on the recognition of rights, respect, cooperation and partnership. Through this IEPP, the Agency supports this commitment. In addition to the IEPP, the Agency plans to engage Indigenous organizations that have indicated an interest in the impact assessment process using the engagement tools and methods outlined in the Public Participation Plan.

4.1. Crown consultation list of Indigenous communities

The Crown will consult with Indigenous communities listed¹ below to further understand the concerns and potential impacts of the Project on their exercise of potential or established Aboriginal or Treaty rights and, where appropriate, make accommodations. These consultations will comprise an integral part of the work that will support the assessment of the Project.

The Indigenous communities that make up the Crown Consultation list were informed of the Upper Beaver Gold Project during the Planning Phase of the Project's Impact Assessment process.

Apitipi Anicinapek Nation (formerly Wahgoshig First Nation)
Beaverhouse First Nation
Kebaowek First Nation (Kipawa/Eagle Village)
Long Point First Nation
Matachewan First Nation
Métis Nation of Ontario (Region 3)
Taykwa Tagamou Nation
Temagami First Nation
Timiskaming First Nation

4.2. Crown list of additional Indigenous communities to be engaged

The Crown will engage with Indigenous communities listed² below to understand the concerns and impacts where an assessment of effects under section 22 of the IAA may be required. More specifically, the Agency will notify the Indigenous communities listed below during key milestones of the impact assessment process.

¹ The list of Indigenous communities identified here may change as knowledge of the effects and potential impacts of the project is gained, or if the Project or its components are modified during the impact assessment. The Agency reserves the right to modify this list based on additional information gathered during the impact assessment.

Algonquins of Barriere Lake (Rapid Lake)
Communauté anicinape de Kitcisakik
Conseil de la Première Nation Abitibiwinni (Pikogan)
Kitigan Zibi Anishinabeg

The Crown Consultation list was revised through out the Planning Phase in response to Indigenous communities who indicated that they do not currently choose to participate in the federal impact assessment process for the Upper Beaver Gold Project.

5. Engagement and consultation tools, and methods

Due to COVID-19, the Agency intends to plan virtual meetings until in-person meetings are deemed appropriate. Any in-person meetings would happen in accordance with local and provincial health guidelines, and would only occur at the request of, and with consent from the Indigenous community.

The following is a list of tools and methods identified by the Agency and Indigenous communities during the Planning Phase to ensure meaningful consultation in the impact assessment process:

- Providing funding under the Participant Funding Program (<https://www.canada.ca/en/impact-assessment-agency/services/public-participation/participant-funding-application-environmental-assessment.html>) to support Indigenous communities in participating in the impact assessment process;
- Providing clear and timely information on available funding, milestones in the impact assessment process timelines, and the workload expected of Indigenous communities to ensure meaningful participation and consultation;
- Communicating with Indigenous communities in an ongoing, open, and transparent manner;
- Considering cultural needs including seasonal issues (e.g., harvesting and hunting periods) and cultural protocols (e.g., offerings, such as tobacco) and spirituality (e.g., opening prayers);
- Following community consultation policies or protocols in consultation activities, to the extent possible;
- Establishing clear processes for identifying and designing accommodation measures, as applicable;
- Holding technical meetings with Indigenous communities and the proponent and/or expert authorities to support Indigenous communities' technical review of key documents and participation throughout the impact assessment process while considering timelines and capacity of Indigenous communities;

- Offering to collaborate on the assessment of impacts on the exercise of rights;
- Providing reasonable time for in-community visits, as appropriate;
- Establishing requirements for diverse participation (e.g., accessibility of meeting locations, timing of meetings, transportation);
- Providing individualized and/or group training on the impact assessment process and how to effectively participate in the process, including offering the Agency's Level 1 and Level 2 training;
- Providing translators and/or interpreters to support meetings between Indigenous communities and the Crown; and
- Providing summaries of key documents, fact sheets, infographics, PowerPoint tools, booklets, and audio-visual materials in plain language and in an accessible format.

In addition, the Agency will explore opportunities for:

- Translating key high-level summary documents whenever reasonably possible;
- Accommodating communication and consultation processes according to the communities' schedule, where possible; and
- Workshop formats to discuss key documents through the impact assessment process, where appropriate.

The Agency will work bilaterally with individual Indigenous communities, on items not listed above, in the development of an Indigenous community-specific consultation work plan as appropriate.

6. Engagement and consultation approach

The table below provides a description of the main phases in the impact assessment process and an explanation as to how the Agency, on behalf of the federal Crown, proposes to engage and consult with Indigenous communities during each phase. This table describes objectives of each phase and engagement methods proposed throughout the impact assessment process.

Prior to the determination that an impact assessment was required, the Agency consulted with Indigenous communities on the Initial Project Description and prepared the Summary of Issues. Subsequently, the Agency provided the Summary of Issues to the proponent for preparation of the Detailed Project Description, including a response to the Summary of Issues. The Agency included the key issues identified by Indigenous communities in the Summary of Issues, and directed the proponent to refer back to the Indigenous community submissions to ensure they use the appropriate context and intent of the comments in their response.

Specific Indigenous communities to whom the Crown owes a duty to consult and who wish to work with the Agency to identify consultation activities beyond those included within this IEPP are welcome to express their interest in an Indigenous community-specific consultation work plan during the Impact Statement Phase. The Agency will work with Indigenous communities to develop community-specific consultation work plans, as needed. Table 1 provides a high-level list of the proposed approaches and activities.

7. Participant funding

During the Planning Phase, Indigenous communities received grant funding to support their comments on the Initial Project Description. Grant funding was also available to support the review and comment on the draft Guidelines, and the draft IEPP. Funding is also available to support Indigenous communities to participate throughout the impact assessment process. The opportunity to submit applications for funding will be made available to the Indigenous communities during the Impact Statement phase. These participant-funding opportunities will support the Indigenous communities to comment on the proponent's Impact Statement and the Agency's draft Impact Assessment Report and potential conditions.

For information about the activities that are eligible for funding or to apply for funding, see the National Program Guidelines and application at: <https://www.canada.ca/en/impact-assessment-agency/services/policy-guidance/participant-funding-program-national-program-guidelines.html>.

8. Federal Agencies' roles and responsibilities

The Permitting Plan issued at the end of the Planning Phase describes the permits and authorizations that may be required for the Project to proceed.

Federal authorities³ identified in the Permitting Plan as well as those with additional expert advice will engage as needed with the Agency, proponent, Indigenous communities and other parties to clarify information requirements related to its specialist or expert information and knowledge. Throughout the impact assessment process, federal authorities may also review and analyze the proponent's Impact Statement; support and participate in the Agency's Crown consultation activities; and support the Agency and Indigenous communities in understanding, assessing and addressing impacts on the exercise of Aboriginal and Treaty rights.

The Agency is the Crown Consultation Coordinator for the purpose of streamlining the impact assessment process. The Agency has collaborated and will continue to collaborate with all federal authorities and use their expertise throughout all impact assessment phases.
